ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, Feb. 20.—Successful withdrawal of American forward positions in the Ousselat Valley to more advantageous sites in the western line of hills was announced by the North African high command today.

American and British forces have thrown back German "feeler" attacks in two areas of western Tunisia in fierce fighting.

"The adjustment," a communiqué said, "conforms to our positions further south, where we occupied a hill northwest of Feriana and Kasserine."

"Yesterday small enemy attacks in the area northwest of Kasserine were repelled.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Yesterday's spring-like weather is bringing the robins out. Pa New was informed by a reader that she saw two robins this morning in the Albert street district.

At midnight tonight, sales of canned fruits and vegetables will be frozen for a week, while registration of citizens takes place preparatory to rationing of these foods starting March 1. The application for the second ration book, which must be made out and presented to the registration boards next week, is being reprinted in this issue of The News for persons who failed to get one from last Wednesday's issue.

The moon, apparently growing tired of seeing so many blackouts on earth, early today underwent a partial blackout of its own. In the first Lunar eclipse of 1943 and the last until 1945, the earth's shadow fell across the face of the moon at 12:03 a. m., covered three-quarters of the moon shortly before 2 a. m., and ended at 3:13 a. m. The partial eclipse was visible through cloud rifts over most of Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey.

Another old landmark is being razed, workmen having completed tearing down the back end of the property owned by the Bolinger estate in Market Way, which was damaged by fire recently in the Figuly wholesale meat store. It will be replaced by a one-story building. The old structure was rendered unsafe by the fire.

Pa New is rather mystified as to how persons who have been rationed up heavily in goods to be rationed by the new orders on March 1 can secure ration books that will

Yanks On New Tunisia Line

U. S. forces in Tunisia have consolidated their positions along the rugged Tunisian hills, fourteen miles from Algeria, after the Nazis had captured the towns of Feriana, Kasserine, and Sbeitla. Rommel was believed to have called off the offensive against the Yanks to meet the British Eighth Army's threat from the South.

LEARN SOLDIER LOST LIFE IN HEROIC EFFORT

Private Morris Dean Doud Died As Result Of Effort To Aid Wounded Comrade

PVT. MORRIS DOUT

In a letter to Mr. and Mrs. John Doud, 619 Etna street, the chaplain at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C., discloses that their 19-year-old son, Private Morris Dean Doud, who died at the Marine camp last Sunday morning, gave his life in an attempt to secure help for one of his injured comrades.

The letter is as follows: "My dear Mrs. Doud—Please permit me to express to you on behalf of the military authorities here and myself, our heartfelt sympathy over the death of your son. It is always sad to see a young person cut off right in the prime of life, especially by an accident that need not have taken place.

"I am informed that the explosion of the shell did not fatally wound your son. He was hit in the hand and in the leg by pieces of shrapnel. If he had not run for help, the bleeding from his leg wound could have been stopped. By running, however, he got himself lost in the dark and there bled to death. The guard who was on watch with him was much more painfully injured, although we hope not fatally, and your son gave his life trying to get assistance for his buddy. That, it seems to me, was a hero's death and it should be a source of comfort to you to know that he died so unselfishly.

"May God bless you and comfort you and keep you in my earnest prayer. Yours sincerely, Philip H. Grace"

Funeral services for Pvt. Doud were held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence with Dr. G. S. Bennett of the First Christian Church in charge. Interment is being made in Savannah cemetery.

Firemen were notified last evening that there was an auto fire at 1316 Wilmington avenue, and second ward firemen were dispatched to the scene, but after their departure another call came in notifying them that their services would not be needed. No action was required.

Convinced that the United Nations' Pacific war strategy is being efficiently and effectively handled, the statesman said.

"China and Australia both appear to be concerned. But I think you can say Japan is in for a big surprise. The plans are made. They are the right plans."

U. S. Warships Make Raid On Attu Island

Japanese Positions In Aleutians Are Shelled By Big Navy Guns

INDICATES JAPS ARE REINFORCED

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Slipping through the north Pacific, American warships on Feb. 18 bombarded Japanese positions on Attu Island in the western Aleutians, the navy reported today.

It was the first American surface action in the Aleutian area since Aug. 8 when U. S. warships blasted positions at the main base on Kiska Island.

Weather foggy

Apparently because of foggy weather prevailing in that area, results of that latest attack were not observed.

The same navy communiqué disclosed that on Feb. 19 American airmen in the south Pacific again blasted Japanese bases in the central Solomons but results were not reported.

The raids were made against Kolombangara Island and Munda on New Georgia Island. This was the 69th raid of the war against the Jap airfield at Munda.

The surface raid in the north Pacific was against Jap positions at Holtz Bay and Chuchagof harbor on the tiny island of Attu, westernmost post in the Aleutians.

The attack indicated that the Japanese in recent weeks have succeeded in reinforcing this former American island which the Japanese occupied last summer.

Sales Of Canned Fruits And Vegetables Will Be Halted At Midnight

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—American housewives today made their last unrestricted purchases of some 200 varieties of canned fruits and vegetables for the duration of the war.

Sales of such products will be halted at midnight tonight and remain "frozen" until Monday, March 1, when rationing of canned goods begins.

At the same time, the Department of Agriculture issued orders under which civilian supplies of canned vegetables from next summer's pack will be increased by approximately 10,000,000 cases. Most of the increase will be in canned tomatoes and snap beans. There were no significant changes in fruits and juices.

The agriculture department also instructed salmon canners to release for civilian consumption the remaining 20 per cent, or approximately 50,000,000 pounds of their 1942 pack. It will remain "frozen" pending consumer rationing of meats.

The order completes the allocation of the 1942 pack of canned salmon, the government previously having released 20 percent to civilians and purchased 60 percent for military and lend-lease.

Will Announce Point System
Within 48 hours, the OPA will make public the "point" values which will determine how many cans of peaches or beans, or corn, or soups each individual will be permitted to buy.

During March every man, woman and child in the country will be entitled to spend 48 "points" for canned goods.

The "point" coupons will be continued.

Koppel Youth Held Japanese Prisoner

Months of silence concerning the fate of their son Kenneth were ended several days ago for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bates of Arthur street, Koppel, when a terse communication was received from the war department, announcing that the young soldier was a Japanese prisoner.

He was stationed at Nichols Field, Manila, Philippine Islands, when the Japanese attacked. Shortly after the Bates received a telegram from Kenneth saying he was all right. Then no more word came until the recent government message.

Russian Forces Driving Toward Dnieper River

Relentless Offensives In Progress Along Whole Southern Front

HUGE SUPPLIES OF MATERIAL CAPTURED

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Feb. 20.—Victorious Russian armies drove shattered Axis forces westward toward the Dnieper river today in relentless offensives that swept forward along the whole southern front.

Swift moving Soviet columns, striking with fury and determination, smashed enemy counter-attacks, wiped out straggling units, captured additional towns, and gathered in huge supplies of war materials and equipment abandoned by the Axis troops in their disordered retreat.

The mid-day Soviet communiqué reported substantial advances west of Rostov, westward of Rostov in the Don Basin, westward of Kharkov and north of Kursk in the direction of Orel, the only point in the 600-mile front that has withstood the Soviet offensive.

And Russian forces were moving steadily on this bastion in a move to encircle it.

Columns Push Ahead

Soviet columns pushed ahead to occupy key points on rail lines leading to important enemy bases, and closed in on Axis forces trapped in the Caucasus and the Donets Basin.

A special communiqué reported that the rail line from Kharkov to Kursk had been cleared of German troops and now is completely in Russian hands.

Russian advances west and southwest of Kharkov put hard-driving Red army forces on the roads to Poltava and Krasnodar where the beaten Axis forces were reported attempting to prepare positions for a stand.

The Soviet offensive was storming ahead on a 45-mile front.

Soviet columns smashed into Lubotin, 25 miles west of Kharkov on the rail line to Poltava, and was within 60 miles of this stronghold. Another Russian force captured a stand.

Says Liberation Of Philippines Deemed Certain

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—In a special broadcast short-wave to his homeland, now under Japanese domination, Philippine President Manuel Quezon today told his people that President Roosevelt has given recognition to the Philippines "as possessed by the attributes of full nationhood."

Quezon, in his address, authorized by President Roosevelt, and sent out to the world by the OWI, said that "the only thing lacking is the formal establishment of the Philippine republic." He declared that liberation of the Philippines "is certain."

The special broadcast was an answer to Japanese propaganda which has been telling the Philippine people not to have faith in America and that the independence of the islands will only come from Japan.

Wilhelmshaven Again Bombed

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 20.—Royal Air Force bombers heavily attacked Wilhelmshaven last night for the second night in a row and for the 72nd time in the present war, the Air Ministry announced today.

The RAF also attacked objectives in Western Germany and electric transformer stations in France, the Air Ministry statement added.

Fourteen bombers failed to return, it was revealed, indicating an exceptionally heavy force of large planes had been in action.

The communiqué said the electric stations were attacked with "army cooperation" but this was not immediately explained. It was assumed that parachutists or commandos had assisted in the raids by ground action.

Four Japanese Supply Vessels Hit By American Fortress Attacks

JAP SHIPPING MUCH DAMAGED

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA Feb. 20.—American Flying Fortresses and Catalina flying boats launched a surprise pre-dawn attack on Japanese shipping concentrations in the northern Solomons and scored direct hits on four supply vessels. All were believed to have been destroyed.
Another 3,000-ton enemy vessel was attacked off Gasmata on the south shore of New Britain island. The Solomons raid was directed at Buin on the southern coast of Bougainville island. Scores of 500-pound bombs were loosed on the enemy fleet in a base for Japanese assaults on Guadalcanal.
The merchantmen which were victims of direct hits were heavily laden. They aggregated 27,000 tons. A 9,000-tonner reeled under the impact of two direct hits and burst into flames. A low-level attack on an 8,000-ton vessel was rocked by a direct hit and keeled over by another 500-pound bomb which exploded 10 feet from its side amidship.
Two direct hits were scored on a 7,000-ton ship which burst into flames and became a pyre, and one direct hit and a near-miss smashed a 3,000-ton vessel.

SALES OF CANNED GOODS WILL HALT AT MIDNIGHT

tained in war ration book No. 2 which will be distributed through local ration boards, school houses and other registration sites beginning next Monday. Registration places will be announced locally.
Blue stamps in the book will be used for canned goods rationing with the red stamps to become valid when meat rationing starts about April 1. There will be stamps of eight, five, three and one point denominations.

Must Have Book One

OPA officials warned that book two will be issued only to persons holding copies of book one, which is used to ration coffee, sugar and shoes. However, the previous ban on the issuance of book one will be lifted to permit acquisition of this book by those who do not now have it.
Registrants also will have to present a "consumer declaration", showing the number of rationed items of food of eight ounces or more in excess of five per person and the number of pounds of coffee on hand last November 28, less one pound for each person 14 years old or over.
An eight point blue stamp will be deducted from ration book two for each can over the limit, while one coffee stamp will be torn from ration book one for each pound in excess of the allowable one pound per person figure.
Officials explained that copies of the "consumer declaration" printed in local newspapers can be clipped and filled out and used at the time of registration. One person may register for all members of the family.

How stocking up is going to be explained in applications for ration books is perplexing. The idea of rationing is to distribute all of the goods equitably, and for this reason the regulations were made.

BI-WEEKLY DENIAL OF CLOTHES RATIONS IS ISSUED BY OPA

guns were destroyed in actions near Sibia. Bad weather yesterday prevented air activity on both sides.
On February 18, the statement said, French forces captured 40 prisoners in a successful patrol action in the hills north of Ousseita. Two Allied aircraft previously reported as missing have landed in friendly territory the communiqué declared.
Gen. Alexander Arrives
It was announced that Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, commander of the British armies in the Middle East, has arrived in southern Tunisia and taken over personal command of Allied forces there.
The American 12th air force's fighters and bombers hammered the enemy forward positions, breaking up any offensive preparations they might have had in mind while the Allies dug in and awaited reinforcements of troops and guns and tanks before undertaking an attack to wipe out enemy gains.
The tank army of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, which threw the thinly spread United States line back some 60 miles in the offensive launched last Sunday, itself was on the defensive in the south where the British Eighth army was bombarding its fortifications on the Mareth Line.
(A Reuters dispatch from Ben Gardane, Tunisia, said forces of the Eighth Army had captured Jerba Island in the Bay of Gabes. This is a sizeable island 20 by 15 miles in area, at the south end of the day and about 35 miles from Gabes, which is at the north end of the Mareth Line.
May Be Sea Base
The dispatch did not make clear its strategic value, but it might possibly be utilized as a sea base and air base for attacks on the East Tunisian coast which now is completely held by the enemy.
American and French forces, during the lull in the land fighting, consolidated positions on a line running from Feriana to Tebessa. French forces holding the northern end of the line were reported to have withdrawn from Pichon to stronger positions in the hills to the west.
These hills rise to an average height of 4,000 feet, and a properly armed force could hold the line against superior enemy forces.
Allied military observers pointed out that Rommel could not risk too much of his strength against the Allied lines to the west with the British Eighth army threatening him from the south. They observed that although he had won a victory,

In the Kursk area the Russians routed the last Axis garrison between Kursk and Kharkov and occupied the town of Oboyan, 40 miles south of Kursk. This gave them full control of the north-south rail line and will permit free and rapid troop movements on this 120-mile sector.
The garrison at Oboyan was encircled and annihilated.
Red army units in the western Caucasus fought their way closer to the Black Sea port of Novorossisk and occupied five towns west of Krasnodar. The Russians are within 50 miles of the coast where remnants of enemy forces have fled in the hope of escaping by sea to the Crimea.
The British radio reported yesterday that Russian landing forces had gone ashore north of Novorossisk at a point between the port and the Kerch Peninsula. Soviet communications have made no mention of such a landing.

WORKERS PURCHASE MEMORIAL BOMBER FOR COLIN KELLY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Purchase by the New York joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America of $350,000 in War Bonds for a bomber as a memorial to Capt. Colin P. Kelly and Sgt. Meyer Levin, was revealed today.
Capt. Kelly was pilot and Sgt. Levin, whose father, a Navy tailor, is a veteran Amalgamated member, bombardier of a flying fortress which, only three days after the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, sank the Japanese battleship Haruna in the Philippines.
Capt. Kelly made the supreme sacrifice in that attack, on December 10, 1941, but Levin was killed only recently in New Guinea, ending a career of heroic war exploits.

THOSE FRENCH FIGHTING SHIPS

VICE ADMIRAL RAYMOND FENARD'S statement that the French warships added to the Allied side since the African coup number 38, in addition to ten escort vessels and various auxiliary craft, furnishes for the first time definite indication as to the strength of the French naval force.

It is a considerable and potent one. It may supply the Allies with the edge in fighting ships that is needed to win the battle of the Atlantic. Accretion of these vessels to our cause takes on added stature by reason of the fact that few if any units of the scuttled fleet at Toulon are expected to be of any use to the Germans.

Two French cruisers are now on the seas. A battleship, a cruiser and two destroyers are under repair at American yards. Others awaiting refitting and repair include the battleships Lorraine at Alexandria and Jean Bart at Casablanca. Cruisers, destroyers and submarines are included in the flotilla, as well as the old aircraft cruiser Bearn, still at Martinique.

Admiral Fenard seems sure the Bearn and the other ships at Martinique and Guadaloupe will soon be in service again, but official announcement in this connection is still lacking. An agreement was reached many months ago "immobilizing" the vessels, but that step merely kept them out of enemy hands. It did not turn them over to us.

We can use these and all the ships of war flying the flag of a France seeking liberation. And we are sure no one is happier to see these ships heading for battle again than their valiant men, so long chafing in the enforced idleness of the Vichy era.

LOSING FACE

American armed might is debunking Japanese army life. Being forced to hide in the jungle in an attempt to escape air raids such as those the Yanks have been making on Rabaul, New Britain, can have only one result—to make the Nips feel more and more like rats.

First experience of the Japs, because of the temporary advantage gained in starting the war without declaration, no doubt had the effect of building up false ideas in the Nipponese mind. But the glory has worn out.

Defeats at sea and on land recently have taught the Japs that they are up against fighters more valorous than they are and physically better man for man. At first the Japs wouldn't surrender. They had been taught since childhood that "one dies but once, so die gloriously."

In the dispatches recently was one from Guadalcanal revealing how four American soldiers captured three Japs, one of whom was an officer. The officer asked the Americans to kill him, but when he was offered a bowie knife to take his own life he refused it. The enemy soldiers had not eaten a meal for 10 days. They were famished and the privates were glad to be captured.

There is no glory in dying in a jungle for a Jap ragged, famished and weak as a worm. That "dying gloriously" stuff may sound fine in Tokyo, but out in the jungles where the going is tough it is less alluring than surrendering and getting a square meal.

THIS "TOUGH" YEAR

Evidence is accumulating that 1943 will be a hard year, hard for fighting men and hard for the home front. President Roosevelt and his war leaders know that the American people are entering the toughest year of their lives. There will be a tightening of rationing restrictions as shortages increase. There will be a terrific drain on manpower.

There will be the shock of casualties such as the United States has never before experienced. Yet all of these strains will reflect a vast moral and material effort to push this war to its end at the earliest possible moment. It is improbable that that moment will arrive during 1943.

In spite of tremendous difficulties still to be mastered, there are encouraging aspects in the situation. The news from Russia gets better and better. Kharkov is again in Russian hands, with every prospect that it will remain there. The Soviet forces are training their sights on Kiev as the entire German front appears to be collapsing. In short, the Russians are in sight of a major German disaster exceeding anything that has happened in this war.

As Russia advances, distance of her armies from railroads is spun out and transport becomes a problem. But the Nazis' hope of a pause lies in a spring thaw, now not more than a month off. When the rains start in Russia, Hitler may have a breathing spell. It is Stalin's object to score a maximum advance while the ground is still frozen.

President Roosevelt's promised offensive to drive Rommel into the sea seems to be still far off. It is doubtful if there will be Allied attempts to invade Europe until Rommel has been disposed of. President Roosevelt has also specified that land and air operations must be planned to drive Japan from the soil of China, and that air actions must be taken against Japan proper. These cannot be regarded as imminent in view of the decision that Hitler's defeat is the first order of business.

But the Far Eastern theater, even if more or less quiescent, must be supplied with large American forces, requiring an enormous amount of supplies and transport to maintain, plus air and naval arms to protect these extended communications. As concerns China, an immediate problem is to reopen the Burma Road. Air transport into China must be limited in scope, for it is impossible to accumulate sufficient stores of gasoline at Chinese airports to refuel planes. Thus the amount of gasoline that must be carried limits the effective load.

Even a quick and superficial glance at American commitments in Europe and Asia drives home the enormous extent of the task and the enormous means that must be used to perform it. American manpower will be drained off at an increased rate, with a possible manpower shortage at the end of 1943 in prospect. Women will replace men even in essential war industries, wherever possible, to release skilled workers to enter the armed forces.

Yes, it will be a tough year. Various war agencies at Washington are reported to be concerned about stimulating the morale of the people. Such stimulus can do no harm. But the real stimulus to all thoughtful men and women will be the knowledge that no strain or hardship is being avoided or postponed to get on with this war and get it won.

Remember the good old days when a bureau was just some place where mother put your clean shirts?

Fermentation process as applied to sauerkraut will be used in preserving other foods, it is announced. But wouldn't a fermented onion be carrying things too far?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PLAY CAN TEACH CHILD TO THINK

On the market, are a number of fine toys which help the little child to grow familiar with blocks or large wooden puzzles of different shapes, sizes or colors. The other day I came across a toy which has an added appeal to the youngster of two or three, the proper block when fitted into the corresponding opening drops into a box out of sight.

This disappearance has to the very young child a kind of magic appeal. A resourceful parent or older child could easily make such a toy. Just to have a good-sized box with several holes of the same size, through which the youngster of nine months or a year might push some clothespins, would be fascinating.

As any one can see, all play by the baby and young child which calls for observing, comparing, matching and classifying things is valuable. Indeed, all useful reasoning and thinking the rest of his life will involve observing, comparing, matching, classifying and organizing things, symbols and ideas. Now let me suggest some useful homemade devices which can exercise even the very young child in these basic steps of reasoning and thinking.

Sorting Articles
Set on the floor or table two saucers or other containers. Have a third (larger) container with approximately an equal number of pecans and English walnuts mixed together, or of checker men and dominoes, or of two other small objects noticeably different. Induce the little tyke to put the pecans, say, into one saucer and the walnuts into the other. Some children might do this long before the age of three or four.

By and by you might add a third saucer and a third group of a noticeably different objects in the larger container. The number of things thus to be sorted may be increased indefinitely. Of course, it is better to keep the device very simple at first and to make it more complicated only as the youngster gains ability and interest for something harder.

Pictured Cards
In the same way, you might induce the child to sort for fun a group of pictured cards placing on each pile all cards with exactly the same picture. You might have the same pile further advanced in such classification place on one pile pictures of different dogs, on another, pictures of different birds, and so on.

Older children in the family might provide, through such devices, many useful hours of fun for the younger, so might resourceful parents. Applying the foregoing principles could provide no end of useful fun for the young child at home.

The World and the Mud Puddles

DANGEROUS GROUND

Most of the striking anthracite miners in Pennsylvania have resigned to their jobs, complying with President Roosevelt's request which was made after all the efforts of unions, the War Labor Board and other agencies had been ignored. The statement attributed to some of the representatives of the miners that they were returning as "a courtesy to the President" poses a few pertinent questions as to just how far we have gone along the road toward one-man rule.

It is possible that we are entering an era wherein every facility of orderly government to end the wildcat walkouts in vital war industries has broken down and a restoration of work can be obtained only and if the workers affected decide to return as "a courtesy" to the President. If we have—and the miners' strike would indicate that we have—then we are on dangerous ground.

If that is true, then these forces whose loyalty to the nation is gauged by a whim or a desire to be "courteous" to a single individual are contributing heavily to the destruction of orderly government and the democratic process which our armed services are fighting to protect. Furthermore, if we stand idly (Continued On Page Seven)

REQUIREMENTS FOR PEACE

Ask any wife or mother what she's ever hoped to get.
More than teacups in the cupboard and a ribboned bassinet.
The stairway trimmed with carpet and the windows curtained white.
A husband well contented and her children all polite.

If the mothers of the nations were to write their wishes out. They'd tell of little gardens where their young could play about. The money just sufficient for requirements very few.
The grocer and the doctor and for music lessons, too.
A fire for warmth in winter and a spot for summer play.
And what is termed "insurance" for the threatened rainy day.
The means for friendly parties and a gift or two to make.

Just this would keep them happy, and so little would it take.
Then why must tyrants bluster and the lust for greed and power Destroy these simple pleasures and crush every garden flower?
And why must hate forever stain with bloodshed, land and sea.
When only love is needed peace of mind to guarantee.

Don't MAKE CATTY REMARKS

New Congresswoman Scores A Bullseye
Clare Booth Luce Coins Real Classic
Wallace's Attempt To Answer Is Weak

By CHARLES P. STEWART

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—Congresswoman Clare Booth Luce of Connecticut almost verges on being a Republican presidential possibility on the strength of that "globaloney" speech with which she introduced herself in the house of representatives recently.

It was a cracking good speech throughout. You didn't necessarily have to endorse the new legislative conclusions to recognize the capital quality of her oratory. In fact, she got as many congratulations from lawmakers who disagree with her as from the fact that she belongs with and maybe is destined to be the leader of. If she can manage as well as she talks, she ought to be a wonder in behalf of any cause she's fighting for and the near-run of any one that she's opposing.

This outburst of hers a few days ago was in the opposition category—a rousing appeal to the United States not to play the sucker after the war to the nations were associated with in the pending conflict.

That's where globaloney came in. We must think globally, according to our internationalists.

"Globally?" sniffed the Connecticut congressman. "Globaloney!"

There was only one possible objection to the employment of that expression. It was so pungent that it somewhat backgrounded all the rest of the congressional lady's conversation. And yet in the long run it may not prove to have done so. Perhaps it will turn out to serve as a kind of a text for future remarks by her. Anyway, whenever globaloney's author gets up to spill a few observations, she can count on a crowd to listen to her in awestruck attention, hoping for some similar gem of equal quality—it couldn't imaginably be a superior one. And who knows? Possibly she has more in her system.

Once in awhile a man gives utterance to a jab that goes on down in history, but it doesn't nearly so often occur in the cases of women, since they are far less frequently involved in fights over current political issues.

Women's rights have figured a trifle, but they're not exactly bi-sexual. Men haven't noticed 'em except as a matter of politeness. THIS they're in on.

Vice President Henry A. Wallace is the outstanding globaloney-ite.

He's tried, weakly, to answer Congresswoman Luce's thrust. But how's he effectively to answer a charge, especially from a woman, of globaloney-ism?

The more he answers, the more he advertises it.

The First Lady also has attempted a rejoinder, but the First Lady, the congresswoman's punch. For one thing, she doesn't register in her newspaper column, as Mrs. Luce does, less frequently but more insistently on the floor of the house of representatives.

You don't have to read the First Lady's "column" if you DO read the news, you CAN'T miss Mrs. Luce's speeches.

If she keeps 'em up, she should raise hades.

And she will keep 'em up if she evolves any more globaloney references.

Clare Luce is a "Mrs." incidentally. She is Mrs. Henry Robinson Luce, and has a daughter.

She's H. R. Luce's wife, which is highly creditable to him, but not the same thing as being the main thing for a "first lady."

Mrs. Luce is a newspaper and magazine woman. Her field has been international.

When she was due to make her maiden speech, the supposition was that she'd boost especially for more American aid to China, on the theory that we haven't given the Chiang Kai-Shek the help that they are entitled to. Plans were made to reply to her on that basis. Contrariwise, that wasn't the tenure of her argument at all. Her dope was pure American.

Mrs. Luce is an authoress, a newspaper and magazine writer, a correspondent and a playwright.

She's 40 and extraordinarily good looking.

But her looks and her record don't signify.

The essential fact is that she invented the term—globaloney.

That may go into future dictionaries.

It won't be purely local; it'll be international. It'll be into the back of dictionaries, as special "words and phrases."

A new word—globaloney.

I don't know how they'll pronounce it overseas, but I can guess on it in Yankee nomenclature. And a congresswoman invented it!

Looking At Life

—By Erich Brandeis

My heart goes out to that old trolley car over in Orange, N. J., because I can readily appreciate how it felt.

Year after year that car had been going back and forth over the same old route on the same old tracks, seeing the same old things.

But the other day it went on a rampage. The sun was shining and there was a faint whiff of spring in the air.

The car was empty and the motorman had gone into a lunchroom to get a container of coffee.

There it was, all alone, bored stiff.

"Oh, shucks," said the car to itself. "I'm going adventuring."

Down the hill it started to roll to the end of the tracks, then the track and cross-country, faster and faster.

It sidestepped several automobiles, knocked down a couple of lamp-posts and rolled on swerving from side to side in all the exuberance of freedom and adventure.

But all good things come to an end, and so did the car.

Where the pavement stopped the wheels sank knee-deep into the mud, there was a grinding sound—and the adventure was over.

In a few moments the motorman came panting down the hill, coffee container in hand and gave his car a good talking. Then came a truck with a wrecking crew and our trolley was taken to the hospital for repairs and a much-needed rest.

Yes, I sympathize with that old Orange trolley!

Aren't most of us in just about the same rut? Day after day, year after year, over and over.

Get up in the morning, rush through breakfast, then to work, back home again—and so to bed.

No wonder we feel like kicking over the traces every now and then. Some of us do smash a few traditions, have a glorious fling, and maybe get hurt.

But wasn't it nice while it lasted? Wasn't it worth a few bruises? Moralists and reformers may not agree with me.

But I say:
Hurrah for an occasional bust!

The "Wiejciek Wesele" (The Peasant's Wedding), the first and only Polish feature film in natural colors. This presentation has created great interest among the Polish population, because it brings back memories to the older people of the world-famous Polish weddings and the young people would like to see this traditional festival when a young Polish girl gets married. The second film, entitled "Dzien Wielkiej Przrody" ("A Day of Great Adventure") is a patriotic story of a kidnapped Polish boy in the Carpathian mountains on the Polish and Slovak border. The despairing mother turns for help to the Polish Boy Scouts and after exciting complications the touching story ends happily. Beautiful Polish songs and magnificent photography make this an exceptionally outstanding production.

Pre-Easter Increase Campaign To Start

Sunday, March 7, Marks Opening Of Sunday School Promotion Effort

The "Victory" Pre-Easter Increase campaign that starts Sunday March 7, will give the participating Sunday schools an opportunity to make an intensive effort to reach the goals of an increase in evangelism, an increase in Sunday school attendance, an increase in church attendance and an increase in Bible study.

Wholesome competition is good in business and it is also good in Sunday school promotion, and a number of the Sunday schools that have enrolled have divided the entire Sunday school into two groups. By so doing the spirit of competition enters families, classes, departments and in some cases, perhaps the entire Sunday school will challenge another Sunday school in the same group. One Sunday school is considering putting the men in one class and the women in another class and making the competition throughout the whole Sunday school between the boys and girls, men and women.

The set-up for the campaign is simple but effective. The participating Sunday school furnishes the average attendance for the calendar year, 1942. A percentage allowance will then be made from this figure to make up for the increased number of boys who are in the armed service as many of them regularly attend religious services in camp. The attendance is then called in every Sunday, and every one in attendance over last year's adjusted average, will count as a point. The highest percentage of points by a Sunday school in a group or district, will determine the winner.

OPINION BY BRAHAM

In an opinion handed down Friday by Judge W. Walter Braham, the preliminary objections offered by the City of New Castle, in the case of the Shenango Valley Transportation Company against the City of New Castle, Charles B. Mayne, mayor and Willis McMullen, chief of police are dismissed.

The suit in equity was instituted by the transportation company asking that the city and its officials be restrained from enforcing an ordinance regulating traffic by omnibuses. To the suit the city entered preliminary objections. Discussing the objections the court said "the preliminary objections are based upon certain matters in the bill which is alleged to be irrelevant upon the averment of an adequate remedy by law, and upon the alleged lack of averments in the bill concerning an immediate threat of damage to the plaintiff.

The court points out that there are certain rights of the Public Utility Commission and the City of New Castle concerning the regulation of traffic and that the case should receive further illumination. The objections are dismissed.

Composite Letter From Men Of Second U. P. Church To Be Read Sunday

Sons of the Second United Presbyterian church who are now serving their nation will speak to the folks on the home front at the regular evening service this week.

The pastor of the church, Rev. J. Calvin Rose, has been sending a letter out each month to the more than 60 young men and women who now serve the nation. As a result, he has received many letters from all parts of the country, and the world, giving the reactions of the men to the war, their duties as soldiers and their general observation of the times. From these many letters a composite letter has been written and will be presented to the congregation Sunday night.

The message the pastor most often received in more than 200 letters was this: "Tell mother and dad not to worry, I'm being well cared for."

The idea of presenting this composite letter, from the many letters received, came from a young soldier who spoke of the way in which so many civilians in their letters complained of the way things were going at home. He said: "If I could see these people and tell them of a few episodes and of what we have given up, I think they would change their tune."

The World and the Mud Puddles

by and permit them to get away with it, we, too, are equally guilty.

This is not a criticism of President Roosevelt in this particular phase of the Pennsylvania case. He had no other alternative than to demand that these men return to work and for the immediate welfare of the nation it is fortunate, indeed, that his request won the "courteous attention" of the strikers. He would have been derelict in his duty had he failed to demand their return and establish a deadline for their doing so.

But the absence of presidential criticism applies only to the final stage of the walkout. Had proper governmental steps been taken at the proper time it is doubtful if the strike would ever have materialized to the point of danger which finally forced a showdown.

The strike originally started because the miners objected to a 50-cent a month raise in union dues. The demand for wage increases came later. And it is probable that had the raise in union dues been had the raise in wage question might have been handled by the War Labor Board or some other governmental agency.

However, on the union dues question, nothing was done by the administration to stay the greedy hand of John L. Lewis, which was reaching into the pockets of the workmen. Not so much as a word of censure directed at him is in the record. That phase of the dispute was ignored by the government. Now, as "a courtesy to the President," the men have returned to work and, it must be assumed, they will be forced to pay the additional toll.

In brief, while it is fortunate that the strike has been ended, by whatever means which finally became necessary, we have a situation whereby the President of the United States has used the power of his office and the respect in which he is held by the workers in the mine fields to force them to divide their wages with John L. Lewis.

Suppose the same thing is repeated in some other industry, in many other industries. Suppose the President's word becomes the only law or order which workmen throughout the country, will obey. Would that be far different from the situation that prevails in some of the countries against which we are fighting in this war? Except that in our case the group which the President favors may be a different one than that which some other ruler favors? The principle would be the same. It simply would mean that constitutional government would disappear and that one-man rule would supplant it. And when that one-man rule gives the appearance, in the Pennsylvania case, of acting as a collection agency for the mine union, then we had better wake up and take note of the direction in which we are drifting.

Warns Brazil Of Air Raids

South American Country Told To Be Alert For Possible Hitler Attack

By JOHN HENRY

(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOUTH ATLANTIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Feb. 20.—Brazil

was warned today to be on guard against Axis air raids, and bombardment of its shores by enemy submarines, merchant raiders and other fleet units.

The warning was sounded by Admiral Jonas Ingram in the course of an outline of Allied preparations in co-operation with Brazil, to prevent such attacks.

"I would not be the least bit surprised any night if an enemy submarine shelled coastal towns," Admiral Ingram declared.

"Hitler will do anything to cause trouble."

"We know Axis surface raiders and some submarines, carry air-planes, and it is entirely possible that they could carry out nuisance raids."

Admiral Ingram also warned against relaxing vigilance against enemy agents. They might get possession of land somewhere along Brazil's 5,000-mile coastline, he said and aid Axis attacks.

He recalled instances of enemy submarines lying off shore for several days—"perhaps to sow mines perhaps to land spies."

No sacrifice was too great!

Sacrifice isn't something you can count in dollars! It isn't measured by giving up little things. Like another cup of coffee, Or an extra pair of shoes, Or a few gallons of gas! It's certainly no sacrifice to pay taxes . . . or buy bonds!

Sacrifice is measured in the heartbreaks of women! In the suffering of men! In the cry of starving children!

Washington — surrounded by his little army in the cold at Valley Forge—had no thought of sacrifice. He was fighting so that all of us could live as Free men.

Let us celebrate his birthday with a renewed determination to Work, and Fight For Victory!

An Army of 4,000,000 Is Working for You

This army doesn't use guns or bombs, but it operates in a soldierly fashion. It is the army of truck employees, 400,000 of them, men and women who put the motor trucks over the highways every day and night of the year.

This army is working for you—hauling your milk and vegetables, your newspapers and magazines, the things you eat and wear and use every day.

It is working for you in still another way—hauling the implements of war to the docks and terminals for shipment to your sons on the firing line.

The truck army is a part of the American way of life, a vital cog in the industrial machine—an army working for you and your comfort.

Ship by truck.

Fred Wimer Steers 'Canes To 34-28 Win

Forward Rings Seven Fielders Against New Brighton, Here Friday

CONTEST CLOSES HOME CAMPAIGN

Sensational shooting by Slim Fred Wimer highlighted New Castle high's 34-28 Section 3 triumph over New Brighton Friday night on George Washington junior high floor.

In closing the home campaign, the Canes unfurled an attack that gratified a fair crowd. The locals pegged baskets and 32 times, hitting the target 13 times as they recorded their third victory in 16 clashes. The visitors, stymied by a bono-proof defense, registered 11 times out of 46 heaves.

Scores 14 Points
Sharp-eyed Wimer led the cagers with seven fielders. In the opening half, the athlete staged one of the greatest one-man shows ever presented on the court, connecting five times out of eight, three times in succession.

Lanky John Zubkowsky, performing before the home town for the last time, was a tower of strength as he won the ball numerous times under both rings. In addition, he picked seven points. Tony Razzano flashed his customary sparkling form on defense. Jacobs' second half performance was impressive, too.

New Brighton's principal actors were Eller and McComb, each with nine points. Farrow, who saw limited action, was flashy.

Locals Never Trail
The locals marched ahead 2-0 after 2:15 had elapsed on Andrews' hook shot from the side of the hoop. Eller knotted the count from outside the charity circle. Wimer cained his initial deuce under the rim after accepting Zubkowsky's out of bounds pass. After that, the Bridenbaughs never trailed.

By the close of the stanza, the bright scoreboard showed an 11-4 edge. Wimer's three successive birdies, two from the side and one on a pretty pivot, left the valley team lagging by 11 points, 17-6. A spurt in the closing two minutes whittled the local lead, 19-12, as the half buzzer sounded.

Farrow pivoted for a deuce as the third started but Zubkowsky dumped a follow up. Eller and McComb tallied twin-plyers, reducing the 'Canes advantage, 21-18. Jacobs snatched Andrews' accurate pass and scored in front of the hoop and Razzano converted a gift toss. Ellis narrowed the gap, 24-20, under the crows. Jacobs' pair of fouls completed the local third chukker scoring. McComb registered on a "dribble in" and a foul as the period ended. N. C. led, 26-23.

Chop N. C. Margin
Gunn's foul and Wimer's sixth "fe" a one-bender from the side, widened the gap, 29-23. McComb, however, clicked under the hoop. Zubkowsky dunked a one-hander.

Titan Passers Seek Revenge In Tech Fray

Westminster Shoots For Seventh Straight Tonight On Home Range

BLUE AND WHITE SLIGHTLY FAVORED

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 20.—Westminster college's Towering Titans will move one game nearer the close of their home basketball season when they play host to the Tartans of Carnegie Tech here tonight in the college gym. Next Tuesday, the blue and white travel to Belhany and then wind up their home season Thursday night against the Allegheny college 'Gators.

Locals Plot Revenge

In the previous engagement between Westminster and Tech, the Plaid cagers came out on top with a 38-46 victory, their first over the locals since 1938. However, in spite of the early loss, Westminster will hold a slight edge tonight not only because the Titans will be playing on their home floor, but also because they have had six straight triumphs. In the meantime, Coach Max Hannum's proteges have been beaten badly by the Pitt Panthers, whom the Titans defeated twice, and by St. Vincent.

Westminster holds the edge in the all-time basketball series between the locals and Carnegie Tech with a record of 16 wins out of 23 contests played.

Play Final Game

Coach George Washbaugh's squad will lose some of its best talent after tonight's game. Veteran Center Charley Goldblum, Forward Bob Dierken and Guard Don Bennett will make their last appearance tonight before leaving next Monday for active duty in the army air corps.

Westminster's biggest loss will be in Sophomore Charley Goldblum of Pittsburgh, who has won for himself the reputation of being one of the district's best ball players. An outstanding freshman on last year's squad, the six-foot three center has been the Titans' high scorer this season with a total of 120 points in 11 games.

Lots Of Punch-Class-Oomph!

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sportburgers "with everything":—

Lack of district Class B opposition, plus the myriad impediments brought to the surface by the big brawl, undoubtedly will force Westminster to suspend football. Thiel Grove City, Edinboro, California Teachers and Slippery Rock, representing more than half of the Titans' pigskin menu, have curtailed the game. What's left in the B rank probably will join the line.

Possibilities of City and County baseball leagues, as operated in the past, are out-of-the-way. The travel ban, insufficient playing material, only to mention two stable grounds, will force local diamond godfathers, most of them, to divorce any deliberation regarding the formation of one loop, let alone two.

Leonard Gilbert, as fussy about his baseball as a Hedy Lamarr or an Ann Sheridan is about weight, advances an idea that's worth, at least, a bit of observation. Says the west sifter: "Why not form an industrial league comprised of teams representing the various industrial plants?"

"With Elder field, Mahoning and George Washington fields available and in view of the fact that the personnel is right in the plants, not to mention little or no travel at all involved, New Castle can have its baseball and like it," continues Len.

Being one of those fellows willing to pitch in the interest of the game, Gilbert has volunteered to roll the first ball. Len as well as the old-time engineer, appreciates sundry Can't Ya Face It?

Here's a case where the basketball has gone to a player's head. You don't know it, but behind the ball is Matt Zunic, 11, of the Norfolk Va., Naval Training Station team. The unusual picture was snapped during a game in New York. (International) viewpoint from the bleachers. Off-hand, the plan is jam-packed with what they call "food for thought." What do you think?

Cancellation of varsity sports at Grove City marks the first interruption in more than a half century. Sgt. Jackie Wilson, who bluffed with "Sugar" Robinson last night, reportedly lacks his chances so much that he bet $500 at 2 to 1.

Madison Square Garden's cage emporium caught the fancy of 225,000 fans during the first 14 shows. "Bill" Vecek, noted for his innovations, is going to stage morning American Association baseball league games at Milwaukee. If nothing else, the Brewers should be wide awake!

The first thing William D. Cox New York lumber broker and new boss of the Phillies, said when interviewed, "I'm the lucky one. Hasn't ever heard of the Phils? When watches his Phillies topple one day after another, Cox will be reminded of that famous call "timber." Is it true that the Phils, notified that their new owner is a lumberman immediately took up whittling?

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Tommy Carey, utility infielder for the Boston Red Sox, proved baseball's most costly hitter last season. He will be inducted soon into the army. He went to bat only once for the Red Sox, hit safely and wound up with a batting average of .1000.

Joe Di Maggio, the "Yankee Clipper" is in the army and hopes he will be treated like any other private. After Joe said this, an army sergeant at Presidio of Monterey, Cal., remarked: "Di Maggio will be a celebrity around here whether he likes it or not." Baseball has a lot of players in uniform and we are of the opinion that, if 3A's in other endeavors are called, the baseball players in that class won't want any favors.

Boxing bouts were not conducted Thursday night at the Shenango Replacement depot. Some details yet remain to be ironed out. However, the soldiers who will be assigned there will be able to see some good scraps between soldiers. Joe Blow is the name of a trainer of Youngstown amateur boxers. Indications are that with each succeeding day more and more athletes will be called to the army and the promoters of sports who want to continue operations will be compelled to use whatever talent is available or step to the sidelines. To "Rocky" White and Dick Roberts, fish warden and deputy, what about that stocking closer to the city line, suggestion?

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Notre Dame was expected today to join in whatever action Western Conference officials take Sunday on the freshman residence rule for varsity sports competition during wartime.

The South Bend, Ind., university was invited to send a representative to the meeting of Big Ten directors of athletics which follows the session of the conference faculty committee at which abrogation of the freshman rule will be discussed.

Mile Run Dominates NYAC Affair Tonight

Mitchell, Dodds and Dixon Top Attraction In Garden Track Show

By JOHN CASHMAN

I. N. S. Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—For the first time in years, the indoor track season is under way with the mile dominated, not by one man, but by three, with the definite possibility that the middle-distance rivalry may remain wide open for the entire length of the winter campaign.

Ready for their third clash in tonight's Baxter mile at the New York Athletic club invitation meet in Madison Square Garden, are the blistering trio who in two weeks have established themselves as standouts: Earl Mitchell of Indiana, Gil Dodds of the Boston A. A., and Frank Dixon, New York university freshman.

'Sugar' Winner But Is Off Form

Annexes 10-Round Decision Over Sgt. Jackie Wilson On Friday Night

By JACK MAHON

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Despite one of the poorest performances of his sensational successful fistic career, Sugar Ray Robinson today held a ten-round decision victory over Sgt. Jackie Wilson, Los Angeles, and looked forward confidently to his final fight for some months scheduled for Detroit next Friday night.

Ray, far off form and trained much too fine won the ballots of Judge Bill Healy and Referee Frank Fullam while the other judge, George Kelly, mysteriously called it a draw. This writer thought Ray won it easily; eight rounds to two though he was far from the fighter he was in running up a winning streak of 40 straight.

Ray had Wilson on the floor for eight in the fourth, gave him an unmerciful drubbing but actually punched himself out.

Fight Is Spotty
It was a spotty affair prior to that and after that round. Ray caught Wilson repeatedly with good hooks to the head but didn't have his timing and failed to follow it up. "I am going to be inducted into the army at Grand Central station Feb. 23 and will report to camp March 21," he said.

Epworth Quint Gains In Hot Church Loop

Records Sixth Conquest, 29-18; Presbyterians Rally To Nip Christians

Basketball thrills weren't rationed at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night as New Castle Church Basketball league rivals moved closer to the end of another long grind. The Epworths gained on the idle Second U. P. and league-leading St. Vitus by defeating Wesleyes, 29-18. In the second set to First Presbyterians nosed out Central Christians, 29-28.

Dart and Wainio led the Epworths to their sixth victory in seven clashes. Hughes and Hike featured for the losers.

Remalies Big Star

The Christians blew a 20-14 half-time lead to an unusually hot First Presbyterians gank. Remalies was the hatchman, ringing 22 markers. Hopper starred for the losers, bagging 14 points.

No other loop games were played last night.

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Feb. 20.—Lawrence County's hopes of hitting the 1942-43 Class B WPIAL basketball jackpot will be riding on the smooth and high-powered undefeated New Wilmington high "Greyhounds" coached by genial John Eagleston.

Last season's sectional titlist, Bessemer, gave the college towners the admittance ticket to the coming tournament by puncturing the formidable Wampum high "Indians", 37-32, Friday night at Bessemer before a packed house.

Grubisa Does It

Needing a triumph to remain in the sizzling race, Wampum's dream balloon was deflated by fleet-footed Jack "Rabbit" Grubisa, one of the smoothest performers of recent date.

Tiny but mighty, the likeable red and black clad guard principally was responsible for the upset by swishing a half dozen rapid field goals in the third quarter to eradicate the neighboring quint's chances of gaining a tie for the crown.

Grubisa arched eight fielders and a pair of Annie Oakleys to emerge with one of the fanciest displays of basketball witnessed in the county this season. Defensively, he was as perfect as could be.

"Indies" Half Leaders

The crucial contest, exciting from start to finish, saw the "Cementers" gain a 10-9 edge as the first closed. In the second Wampum held the upper hand, adding eight points while the host five annexed three. The "Indians" left for the rest period ahead 17-13.

With incredible suddenness the tide changed. Grubisa potted four consecutive deuces from different angles. All the shots were "clean". He finished the chukker with two more "fgs". While the Weresk-coached hands were gaining 15 markers, Wampum managed to ring eight, to trail by a 28-25 count.

Finds Westminster Co-Ed's Picture In New Guinea Jungle

Correspondence Begins When Soldier Finds Old American Newspaper

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 20.—A torn scrap of newspaper, a picture of a Pennsylvania co-ed, a lonely American soldier somewhere in New Guinea, plus some unusual circumstances have resulted in a correspondence between Anne Bolivar, Westminster College co-ed and a United States Army sergeant.

It all started when the sergeant found Anne's picture on a piece of old American newspaper in the steaming, rain-soaked jungle. Since he hadn't seen a woman in a long time, the sergeant decided to write to the pretty co-ed.

The picture which so impressed the soldier was distributed last October by a national newspaper syndicate. It showed Miss Bolivar up in a tree picking apples.

Leave Slippery Rock For Army Camps

SLIPPERY ROCK, Feb. 20.—Twenty-seven members of the army reserves at State Teachers college, Slippery Rock, were called into service this week, and 16 of them left Wednesday morning for New Cumberland for preliminary examinations. From there they will be sent to various camps for intensive training in the fields for which they seem best suited.

Included in the group who left Wednesday were Thomas F. Carey, 904 North Mercer street, and George Kaluger, 804 Beaver avenue, Ellwood City.

Another contingent from the college has been ordered to report to Miami, Fla., Monday, February 22. In this group is Jack Dunlap, 428 Court street, New Castle.

MAN BREAKS WRIST
Michael Musick, of South New Castle Boro, employed at the New Castle Refractories plant, suffered a fracture of the left wrist, when he slipped on the ice while at work late Friday morning. He was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Rules Of Contract Bridge Are Changed

Minor Revisions Made In Scoring And Penalties Under 1943 Code

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—New rules for contract bridge, embodying only minor changes, were announced Friday with publication of a 1943 code of bridge laws by the Whist Club of New York and the American Contract Bridge League.

The revisions are the first since 1935 and chief interest centered in a scoring change that gives a fifty point bonus to the side making a doubled or re-doubled contract whether vulnerable or not. The other scoring change announced was a 50-point bonus to be given for having a part score in an unfinished game of an unfinished rubber.

The rule governing the lead-out-of-turn penalty was changed so that declarer may either call the lead of any suit he wishes or forbid the lead of any suit. This change was made because in some cases it is actually to the disadvantage of the declarer to be forced to call a lead.

The penalty for revoking remains at two tricks but in the new laws there is no additional penalty when the same player revokes a second time in the same suit. It cost the offender an extra under the old laws for every additional revoke.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Frank Sargent, chief air raid warden, today stated it has come to his attention that some senior wardens are attempting to revise the working procedure of their wardens. He said that wardens should be assigned to sections with which they are familiar instead of being sent to unfamiliar sections. He said they should be familiar with the homes and buildings in their section because of the house to house canvas.

Groups which have not held meetings regularly should do so. The only way workers can keep posted on procedure is through regular meetings and instructions.

Every day or more a notice is published stating that persons have been certified for OCD work, but have not subscribed to the oath and therefore have not received their identification cards and arm-bands. They should do so. It is doubtful if long lists of names will be published in the future. Certified persons should communicate with the board.

Auxiliary police will start in a new class of recruits at eight o'clock Wednesday, in city hall. Any person who desires to join the class should report on the third floor, city hall, at that time.

LIBRARY CLOSED MONDAY

Both the main building and the Mahoningtown branch of the New Castle Free Public Library will be closed Monday, February 22.

NO. 42 TRADES AND EXCHANGES (PART 2)

While certain trades or exchanges of property are considered as not giving rise to gain, and consequently nontaxable, such transactions are strictly limited in character. The first limitation is that the property exchanged must be "solely for property of a like kind".

The words "like kind" have reference to the nature or character of the property, and not to its grade or quality. Thus an exchange of a truck for a new truck, an passenger car for a new passenger car, to be used for a like business purpose, would be exchanges of "like kind". Likewise, trades of a farm for city property, or of unimproved real estate, or of a rental house for a store or other property, are exchanges of "like kind".

A second limitation on nontaxable exchanges is that the property exchanged must have been "held for productive use in trade or business or for investment," and the exchange must be made for property of various types of transactions, especially trades of property used or to be used for personal purposes. An instance is an exchange involving residential property. Since one's residence is not considered as held for use in trade or business or for investment a trade of one's residence for other property, or a trade of other property for a residence intended to be occupied by the taxpayer, would constitute in effect a sale of the property disposed of, and a gain realized on the exchange would be reportable.

It should be noted also, in this connection, that in the case of a residence exchanged for other property any gain realized would be taxable under the capital gains provisions, but no loss would be allowable, since losses are not allowed to be taken on personal residence property disposed of. If, however, a business property were exchanged for a residence, the resultant gain or loss would be reportable.

The third limitation on nontaxable exchanges is that the exchange must be even, that is, no boot involved. If boot is taken, then a gain arises, the amount of which, up to the amount of the boot, would be taxable. The amount of gain beyond the amount of the boot would be nontaxable. If boot is given, however, no loss can be taken for the amount of boot given, since this is regarded simply as additional investment in property of the kind exchanged.

The fourth limitation on nontaxable exchanges excludes transactions in stocks and bonds and other securities, as well as exchanges of property held as stock in trade or primarily for sale. However, in the case of investment securities held, an exchange may be nontaxable if the securities exchanged are of the same corporation and of the same degree of equity (common stock for common stock, preferred stock for preferred stock, etc.). Also, in the case of reorganizations, an exchange of securities is nontaxable if the exchange is made pursuant to a plan of reorganization, and stock or securities in a corporation a party to the reorganization are exchanged solely for stock or securities in such corporation or another corporation a party to the reorganization.

SUGAR

One of the most valuable articles in our diet list is sugar. It seems to be the least understood.

There are a number of different sources and kinds of sugar. They all act very much the same.

For practical purposes, sugar is sugar, whether it is milk sugar, grape sugar, cane sugar, beet sugar or honey sugar.

Starch is changed to sugar after it is digested. For nourishment purposes, starch and sugar are practically the same. They are called carbo hydrates.

Sugar is very quickly and easily digested. It satisfies hunger very promptly. An ounce of it supplies around 100 calories.

At breakfast if you put two teaspoonsful of sugar in your coffee and in your rolled oats and on your grapefruit, you add 100 calories to your list. There are no vitamins or other chemicals in sugar. It only supplies taste and calories.

Children need lots of sugar to keep the active body going. After they have eaten the necessary supply of protein and fat and vitamins, they can eat candy and enjoy it.
